Another bank robbed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A gunman robbed a Romulus bank last Friday, the third such bank heist in the month within the city. In addition, separate bandits robbed a gas station operator and a motorist.

Police were told a lone gunman entered the Security Bank at 9950 Wayne Road about 3:15 p.m. last Friday, walked over to a pair of bank employees and ordered them to direct a cashier to empty all the bank registers.

The bandit flashing a silver semi-automatic handgun then ordered the cash to be given to him.

After getting the funds, the gunman walked calmly out of the bank and disappeared in a westerly direction.

He was described as a black male about 35 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches tall, thin build with a mustache and short sideburns. He reportedly was wearing dark-rimmed glasses, a dark-colored golf hat and a green parka.

Earlier in the month two bank heists were reported at the Romulus branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

Another bandit entered the Mobil Station at 35426 Goddard Road shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday and robbed the attendant.

The victim, a 26-year-old Dearborn male, told police the man first entered the station, walked to the rear and then returned to the front.

He displayed a short-barreled shotgun and demanded "give me all the money or I'll kill you."

The bandit was described as a 20-year-old male, about 5 feet 10 inches tall, medium build, wearing a dark bandana, light brown jacket, light trousers and army boots.

Another robbery victim said he was driving his 1992 Ford pick-up truck in the area of Beverly and Irma Roads about 5:50 a.m. Saturday, when he was flagged down by a group of men.

The victim, a 32-yer-old Romulus man, said as he rolled down his window, he was hit in the head with a blunt instrument.

He said one or men then dragged him out of the truck, took his truck keys and wallet and smashed the windows in his truck.

He said he walked to a nearby home in a dazed condition and sought help. The home owner then called police.

He later was treated at Annapolis Hospital for cuts and bruises of the head and face.

Vote expected today on suicide ban

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

> Feeling the growing assisted suicide efforts by Kevorkian have gotten "out of control" in Michigan, 29th District State Representative Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) felt something had to be done in a timely manner.

State senators today are expected to approve a bill that would temporarily ban assisted suicides in Michigan.

Such a bill was approved by the state House of Representatives on Nov. 24 making efforts similar to those of Dr. Jack Kevorkian a felony. Conviction of such an offense would lead to sentencing of up to four years in prison and possible fines of up to $2,000.

It is expected that Gov. John Engler will quickly sign the bill into law.

Feeling the growing assisted suicide efforts by Kevorkian have gotten "out of control" in Michigan, 29th District State Representative Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) felt something had to be done in a timely manner.

Thus Pitoniak joined the majority of his peers in the state House of Representatives, 72-29, in voting to ban assisted suicides, while a study is being done for legislators future action.

Meanwhile 37th District Rep. James Kosteva, (D-Canton) also voted to support the temporary ban claiming Michigan didn't want to become a "mecca for assisted suicides."

Kervorkian, who has aided six women commit suicide in Michigan in the past two years, chided the effort by saying "they don't realize the dumb mistake they have made."

According to the bill, Pitoniak said, the law would go into effect 90 days after the current legislative session ends. Thus in reality convictions could begin next April.

According to the bill a panel of experts would then be empowered to conduct a 15-month study of the issue and then recommend whether Michigan should permanently ban the practice or not.

The criminal penalties will expire six months after the panel presents its recommendations.

Kosteva said the legislature realizes that society is still wrestling with the assisted suicide issue itself and has not drawn the line where they would like to see life end in a digified way.

Society also has not firmed up in its mind what the medical role should be in ending lives, he said.

Thus we decided not to make Michigan a mecca for assisted suicides, while at the same time asking a unique panel to study the issue for 15 months and return with a suggested plan to alter our current state laws on the issue.

Rep. Justine Barns (D-Westland) opposed the legislative action. She could not be reached for comment.

Airport growth not for sure

By AL POST

> If it is on that agenda, then it could be on the Dec. 17 commission meeting. If not, who knows?
>
> - spokesperson

Another hurdle remains before the $3 passenger facilities charge (PFC) can be added to airline tickets at Metro Airport.

While it has been inferred in recent weeks that the PFC agreement had already been reached and the charge would be effective Jan. 1, 1993, the opposite is now evident.

The PFC is critically important to Metro Airport expansion plans, because if it is approved it could raise abourt $30 million annually at the airport.

Political egos were apparently wounded recently when Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and his Assistant Executive Michael Duggan staged a press conference stating that every thing was "go" with Metro Airport expansion plans.

Few political leaders from affected communities were in attendance that day at Metro Airport as McNamara and Duggan gave the inference that the County Commissioners were about to press a $750 million plan to ensure the airport growth effort.

County Commissioners also apparently were irked that they were not consulted before the press conference.

A check with Michael J. Conway, airport community relations officer late Tuesday, revealed that although the ticket charge had been approved by the Federal Aviation Administration, it had not gotten official County Commissioners approval.

Conway said he did not know if it was on the commissioners' next agenda, but said the commissioners will be meeting on Dec. 17.

A spokesperson at the Wayne County Clerk's office said actually the issue first must be discussed at a Committee of the Whole meeting chaired by Arthur Blackwell. That meeting is slated for Dec. 8.

"If it is on that agenda, then it could be on the Dec. 17 commission meeting," the spokesman said. "If not, who knows?" he said.

Meanwhile the political jockeying between McNamara and the county commissioners goes on. Without the okay of the commissioners, the PFC implementation could be postponed.

Mega-League battle goes on

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

> All the school districts involved in the Mega Conference are extensions of the state and all receive some amount of state aid...we feel it is your obligation to correct this problem now.

Romulus school officials "haven't heard a peep out of the state" educational leaders on the district's efforts to join the recently created Mega Conference athletic league.

"It has got to be some body like ours to press for action," Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said, "since we have a 70 percent white school population."

Bedell has fired off letters in recent weeks to state and Wayne County education leaders charging that only those school districts with 30 percent Afro-American populations or higher are being denied entrance into such groupings as the Metro Conference.

Realizing that his letters were not being responded to in a reasonable time, Bedell stepped up his efforts Tuesday with phone calls.

Bedell also sent similar letters to all 22 school superintendents in Wayne County.

"The only phone call I have received to date," Bedell said Tuesday "was from the new superintendent of the Wayne-Westland Schools Dr. Larry Thomas. He said he would take the issue to his school board for discussion."

Earlier Bedell had received a letter from Highland Park Superintendent Eldon L. Martin supporting Romulus' effort.

"I read with great interest your intent to pursue the Michigan Mega Conference refusal to admit Romulus High school," Martin wrote.

"I agree with you completely and share your concerns. Highland Park was similarly excluded. I applaud your efforts to redress an exclusionary act that can only preserve athletic apartheid," Martin concluded.

Unless some hint is passed down to the Romulus School District that the state or county education chiefs plan to step in to resolve this issue, Bedell said, the school district has no option but to file racial discrimination complaints on the state and federal level.

Bedell said earlier unofficial talks with civil rights officials have lead Romulus School authorities to strongly believe they have a legitimate case for a discrimination complaint.

Bedell's letter to Dorothy Beardmore, president of the state school board, stated because "all the school districts involved in the Mega Conference are extensions of the state and all receive some amount of state aid...we feel it is your obligation to correct this problem now."

Wayne executive named director

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Former Wayne resident Kimberly Shelton Shreckengost was recently promoted to director, investor relations and assistant secretary at Delta Airline corporate headquarters in Atlanta.

Shreckengost joined Delta Airline in 1980 as a customer services agent in Detroit. After serving in positions of increasing responsibility in both reservations sales, information services and methods and training, she was promoted to coordinator-investor relations in 1989.

In 1990 Shreckengost was named staff manager and was promoted to her present position effective Nov. 1. As director of investor relations and assistant secretary, Shreckengost will provide financial information to the investment community through communications with financial analysts, institutional investors and individual shareholders, and through the publication of the company annual and quarterly reports.

Since 1989, Delta has received awards for excellence in corporate reporting and investor relations from the Association of Investment Mangement and Research. In 1991, she was cited by Institutional Investor Magazine as the top investor relations professional in the airline industry.

Kimberly Shelton Shreckengost

Shreckengost is a member of the Board of the Atlanta Chapter of the National Investor Relations Institute. She graduated with distinction from Wayne State University in Detroit.

Shreckengost is presently enrolled in the Master of Professional Accounting program at West Georgia College in Carrollton.

She and her husband Lloyd R. Shreckengost now live in Villa Rica, Ga.

Local professionals promoted

Wayne resident Ronald Britt has been promoted to director of finance for Oakwood United Hospitals Inc.

Britt is currently responsible for financial operations of Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti, Heritage Hospital in Taylor and Seaway Hospital in Trenton.

Employed at Oakwood since 1971, Britt previously had been the director of Receivables Management for Oakwood United Hospitals.

Britt has a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Michigan University and is currently pursuing a masters degree in health administration from Central Michigan University. He is also an advance member of Healthcare Finance Management Association.

Johannes Postma of Ann Arbor was recently promoted to director of Receivables Management at Oakwood United Hospitals. Postma now is responsible for billings and collections at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti, Heritage Hospital in Taylor and Seaway Hospital in Trenton.

Johannes Postma

Since 1988, Postma had been a patient accounting specialist for Oakwood Hospital, in Dearborn. Prior to that he was employed by the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Postma received a bachelor's degree from the University of Amsterdam in the Netherlands and will receive a master's degree in public health from the University of Michigan this winter.

In addition, he is a member of the Healthcare Financial Management Association, Hospital Patient Accounting Association and is a certified manager of patient accounts.

Grants issued for disabled

The Widman Foundation, a non-profit, grant-giving organization which provides short-term funding to innovative, educational programs and research techniques for developmentally disabled residents of Wayne County, has announced the 1992 grant recipients.

Some local organizations that won included: The Southern Wayne Center, The Northwest Wayne Skill Center and the Association for Retarded Citizens/Northwestern Wayne.

"The 1992 grant recipients are three of the many outstanding examples of the fine work being done locally in the field of special education," said Andrea Witkowski, Widman Foundation chairperson. "Our selection of these programs was a challenging one, but our committee felt that they encompassed all of the current trends in the area of developmental disability while demonstrating unique and dynamic solutions for existing special education problems."

The Southern Wayne Center, a non-profit, community-based agency providing services to developmentally disabled Wayne County adults and children, received a $10,000 grant.

The grant will be used to implement the Senior Community Retirement Project, an inclusive community retirement program for developmentally disabled adults, residing in Wayne County, who are older than 65.

The Northwest Wayne Skill Center,a Wayne County Regional Education agency run by the Livonia Public Schools, received a $7,000 grant.

The grant will be used to increase the knowledge of public transportation, independent mobility, basic money transaction skills and communication skills that students at the center need.

ARC/Northwestern Wayne, serves more than 150 developmentally disabled residents in southwestern Wayne County. The organization received a $5,000 grant to further develop existing bicycle programs.

The grant will allow officials at the agency to recruit and train more staff members, and gain greater visibility.

Christmas tree trimming slated

Children are invited to the Christmas Tree trim at the Romulus Public Library from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Saturday Dec.

There will be popcorn and cranberries to string in order to help decorate the library tree, Youth Services Librarian Kim Potter said.

Holiday movies will be shown after the work is completed, according to the librarian.

On Dec. 12 a special holiday visitor is expected to visit the library after 1 p.m. At that time stories and songs will be filling the youth area. The program is recommended for those children ages 3 on older, Potter said.

Children will be encouraged to drop off their letter to Santa prior to entering the library. A massive Santa mailbox is located outside the building, Potter said.

Librarians also will be glad to assist parents and grandparents with names of popular books that are available this year for possible Christmas gifts.

Cory students aid Goodfellows effort

Students at Cory Elementary School and employees of the Merriman Executive Inn at Metro Airport are working together this holiday season to bring food to those local families in need.

The classroom that brings in the most canned foods through Dec. 15 will win an 8-foot tall stocking filled with toys donated by the Merriman Executive Inn.

The community can take part in this event by donating non-perishable canned foods to their favorite Cory student or at the Merriman Executive Inn.

Can foods collected will be donated to the Goodfellows of Romulus.

Burglar takes $11,000 in goods

One or more burglars broke into a home in the 15000 block of Isabelle Road last Friday night and removed $11,000 in jewelry and electronic equipment.

The victim told police the intruder or intruders forced open a door and stole 2 color television sets, 2 video cassette recorders, a cordless phone, an answering machine, 35 millimeter camera, amplifier and a shotgun.

Romulus marine wins promotion

Marine Cpl. Timothy Bazzinett, son of Phillip D. and Camille M. Bazzinett of Romulus, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the 9th Marines, 3rd Marine Division, in Okinawa, Japan.

The 1989 graduate of Romulus Senior High School joined the Marine Corps in July 1989.

Romulus sailor returns to U.S.

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Glen G. Hall, son of Glen C. Hall of Romulus, has returned from a 6-months deployment in the western Pacific and the Persian Gulf.

Serving aboard the USS Fort Fisher landing ship, Hall participated in Exercise Eager Mace, which stressed basic skills in inter-operability between the U.S. and Kuwaiti navies.

Serving with the 350-man crew are nearly 200 Marines. The Navy-Marine team is capable of a full range of action from port visits to humanitarian relief to major offensive operations.

Restaurant arson hearing begins

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Various individuals testified Nov. 30 at the preliminary examination of the owner of the Golden Boy Restaurant and his son who were both arrested by the Wayne Police Department on a four-count arson charge.

George and Andy Demetriou appeared for the exam before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Wayne fire Lt. Charles (Joe) Kadlec testified before special prosecuting attorney Bob Shieko, attorney for George Demetriou, Marvin Blake, and attorney for Andy Demetriou, Mark Gantz, that he arrived at the scene of the Golden Boy fire approximately 5:18 a.m. Sept. 28.

"After getting out of the vehicle, I could see fire through the kitchen door," Kadlec said. "The flames were on the west side of the kitchen area. "I had to break the glass to gain entry. Looking through the window I could see the flames were chest high."

After being scrutinized by Shieko and Blake, Wayne Deputy Chief Fire Marshal Michael O'Brien was declared an expert to testify on the cause and origin of the fire.

"I arrived at the scene at 5:35 p.m.," O'Brien said. "The fire had been extingushed at that time. I entered through the kitchen floor area, and we were delayed because of leaking gas."

> "Part of the plan was to turn the natural gas on and start an explosion. Both mentioned they were frustrated and had tried starting the fire before.
> - James Daugherty

O'Brien said he saw an open gas line on the floor as well as several rags and a trash can that was melted.

Shieko asked O'Brien where the gas was located.

"It was near the cutting board area to the west of the debris," O'Brien said. "The end of the cutting board was very close to the gas line. There was soot throughout the building. There was no fire or smoke damage beyond the kitchen area."

Shieko asked O'Brien if he had reached an opinion as to how the fire started.

"In my opinion it started on the floor in front of the sandwich preparation table in the rags," O'Brien said. "I believe someone intentionally started those materials on fire."

Blake asked O'Brien if he could tell if the cloths were saturated with anything.

"I could not see anything myself," O'Brien said.

On Oct. 16 Wayne police arrested and charged James Daugherty, a Florida resident, with four counts of arson in the burning of the Golden Boy Restaurant.

Daugherty testified Nov. 30 that he was contacted by another Florida man about a job in Michigan.

"He called me on the phone and offered a job to me," Daugherty said. "I drove to Panama City where he lives. He wanted to know if I had the expertise to set a fire.

"He said the job would be a restaurant in Michigan. He said the agreement would be $10,000 for setting a fire in the restaurant. He said there was an insurance policy, and I would not be getting any of that."

Daugherty testified that the co-conspirator informed him the incident would have to occur on a Sunday.

"He said the cleanup crew came in later on Monday morning," Daugherty said. "He said the owner wanted a non-suspicious fire, preferably electric. He said he attempted burning the restaurant several times himself, and he had the help of one of the owner's sons."

On Sept. 19, Daugherty said the co-conspirator rented a car and the two drove to Michigan.

"We went to a Super 8 motel," Daugherty said. "We went to a roadside bar, a rest stop. He said he wanted to meet someone to get expense money.

"He referred to him as the 'old man'. I went to the restroom, and when I came back, I saw someone drive up in a dark blue, black Cadillac. "

Daugherty said only one person was in the vehicle at the time.

"He got into the vehicle with the old man," Daugherty said. "They just talked. When he came out, he said he got expense money from the old man. He said the old man was happy I was in town and was happy to get the fire over with."

Daugherty said he met Andy Demetriou later that day.

"We talked at the Golden Boy," Daugherty said. "I went to the restroom and looked at the panel box and overhead. I checked the electrical panel. I couldn't see anywhere to do what I had come to do."

Daugherty said a meeting was arranged between himself, Andy and the co-conspirator for that evening.

"Later that night, we went back to the Golden Boy," Daugherty said. "I started looking around. They showed me where the gas lines were. They talked about the exhaust fans. It was decided I would try to set the fire."

Daugherty said he had brought some gasoline and acetone to the restaurant.

"Part of the plan was to turn the natural gas on and start an explosion," Daugherty said. "Both mentioned they were frustrated and had tried starting the fire before.

"We spread some grease around. I had two pickle jars. One was filled with gas and the other with acetone."

Daugherty said he was going to turn on the gas lines inside and the one outside to fill up the restaurant.

1 chamber legislature proposal is opposed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Not content with newly established political term limits in Michigan, a move is now afoot to merge the Michigan legislature into a single chamber.

Former Democratic Party chief Zolton Ferency is proposing that a single legislative unit represent citizens in Lansing in the future. He also is asking that the legislators have a six-month rather than 12-month calendar.

The group supporting Ferency's effort is known as People Achieving Legislative Power (PALP) and would like to eliminate legislative retirement benefits and force them to vote on their own pay raises before the hikes take effect.

Petetion language on the issues will be passed to state election officials within two weeks, Ferency said.

Supporters of the effort hope to have the petitions ready for a drive next April through September.

A total of 257,000 signatures are needed before the question can go to the voters on the November 1994 ballot.

Only one other state (Nebraska) currently has such a political structure.

Ferency feels the past general election has done little to calm voter frustration with state and federal governments and feels his plan also would make government more proportional to the voters it serves.

Ferency feels such a legislature would also be much more cost effective.

Under his plan the current state House of Representatives (110 seats) and the 38 Senate districts would be replaced by 16 legislative districts (using the same boundaries as the state's congressional districts).

Any person who garnered at least 5 percent of the vote would be elected and power would be dispensed on the basis of the percent of votes they received in their districts. Districts could have more than one legislator in Lansing.

Thus a lawmaker, who received 80 percent of the votes would have twice the clout as one who gained only 40 percent of the vote.

Ferency admits it would take a computer to sort out political vote decisions on various bills.

State Rep. Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor), who was recently elected to represent Romulus, said his initial reaction to the proposal is that it would not make government any more accessible to the public.

"And if his plan is for cutting the number of legislators and trimming the legislative calendar in half," Pitoniak said, "he will hike the responsibilities of the legislators and drastically cut the number of persons who could economically accept the elected posts."

If legislators are only going to work half a year, it would only allow independently wealthy persons to seek the legislative seats and thus the legislature would no longer be reflective of the masses, Pitoniak said.

Senior lock-up okayed by board

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Senior Slam '93 has been approved.

Class Advisor Gail Fraley informed the Romulus School Board on Monday night of the request by the Romulus Senior High School Class of '93 for an all-night party at the school to celebrate their graduation.

"This would take the form of a 'lock-in' at the high school for students use of the gym, cafeteria, a small part of the kitchen and one of the classrooms off the cafeteria," Fraley said.

The party is expected to host 125 students and 10 parent chaperones. It would begin at 9 p.m. Friday June 11, with doors locked at 9:30 p.m., and end after breakfast on Saturday about 9 a.m.

The cost per student would be $5 in advance to cover the cost of food.

Fraley also sought the use of a school bus from 10 p.m. to midnight Friday to transport the students from the high school building to Town 'n' Country Bowl in Westland.

After being bused back to the school, the students will dance to music provided by a disc jockey, watch movies, play board games, volleyball and basketball.

There also would be drawings every half hour or so for prizes donated by merchants from community businesses.

The planning committee included Cheryl Young, Daniel Winston, Roger Williams, Mara Tolbert and Yolonda Carson.

Fraley stressed "we consider this an excellent opportunity to celebrate the graduation of an excellent class in a smoke-free, alcohol-free and drug-free environment."

The board endorsed the effort with high hopes of a successful venture.

3 principal candidates face quiz

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Junior High School will hopefully have a new principal beginning in January.

Seven candidates for the position, including two currently employed by the district, were interviewed Tuesday morning, Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent for administrative services, revealed.

LeCesne and the interview committee narrowed the applicant list down to three following the interviews.

The trio, all from Michigan, will undergo background checks and be interviewed by Superintendent Dr. William Bedell.

Bedell then can recommend one of the trio to the Romulus School Board at the Jan. 14 meeting, or may come up with an alternative recommendation.

LeCesne said 21 persons initially applied for the principal post vacated by Jesse Meriweather, who accepted the district's athletic director position in August. Assistant Principal Melvin Kimbrough has been filling the position of acting principal since Nov. 2.

Members of the interview committee included: LeCesne, Meriweather, Thomas Dolan, Romulus Senior High School principal; Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Bedell; Dan Hurst, assistant high school principal; Joel Carr, assistant superintendent; Fran Elser, Junior High teacher; and Charles Kidwell, Junior High teacher.

"We realize if an outsider is selected for the position, he will need to extricate himself from his current employment," LeCesne said, "but if all goes well we hope to have someone on board by Jan. 4.

Renovation of the Junior High School building is going along on schedule and it also is hoped that students will return to regular classes at that time.

Presently the junior high students are attending classes at the Wayne County Community College Western Campus in Van Buren Township.

Pair plead guilty to tax fraud raps

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The former owners of a paraprofessional institute that once operated in Romulus have pleaded guilty to one count each of student loan fraud and payroll tax evasion

According to an indictment the couple obtained $500,000 in illegal loans from the Department of Education.

The pair, Michael (Miquel) Alvarez, 52, and Shirley A. Stofflet, 46, operated the Michigan Paraprofessional Institute that went out of business in 1991. They also operated institutes in Oak Park and Roseville that provided training for paraprofessional and assistant positions in the medical and dental fields.

U.S. States Attorney Stephen J. Markman said the indictment against the pair, who formerly were married, charged they conspired to fraudulently obtain federal student loan and grant money and made false statements to the Department of Education.

It is charged, Alvarez and Stofflet, overstated the amount of grant money that their students were eligible for and submitted over 160 false student loan applications.

Both admitted to receiving and depositing student loan checks in the names of non-existent students, Markman said.

Both also pleaded guilty to evading their payroll staxes by falsely stating on a federal payroll tax return the amount of taxes their school owed, he continued.

The defendants each face five years in prison and a $250,000 fine for each offense.

A sentencing date has not been set by the court.

Students will study worker's roles

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Third-graders from Barth Elementary School will soon be "shadowing" employees at the Marriott Hotel at Metro Airport in hopes of learning job skills at an early age.

Harold Howse, general manager of the Marriott, will first be visiting the students on Jan. 5 to give them an overview of what working for a major hotel entails and then will be seeking to group various students into job areas.

Howse said he feels the programs that will take place on Jan. 11 and 14 will give students "a different twist" on future job offerings, since Metro Airport and its related businesses are the biggest job market complex in the area for students.

"Some of the students will be working with front desk clerks, some with housekeeping crews, some with other professionals at the hotel and even some with me as general manager," Howse said.

The program was initiated by the Partnership with Education team headed by Ed Clark and is similar to one conducted in the past in Dearborn.

Barth Principal Harold Cannon said the participating students are in classes headed by teachers Bonnie Mientkiewicz and Marie Hall.

The children will report to school on Jan. 11 and 14 and then be bused to the Marriott for almost a full day of job related skill watching and in some cases some hands on efforts.

For instance, Howse said, students "shadowing" front desk workers will be encouraged to participate in some fundamental computer work and those with housekeepers will be shown the proper way to make beds.

"We realize that students will not be making up lifetime career decisions this early in their lives," Cannon said, "but we feel it is important to learn the discipline needed to obtain and work various employment opportunities."

Cannon said in November kindergarten students from Barth took part in a similar program at Mr. Bill's Pizzaria in Romulus.

At that time each kindergarten pupil and adult supervisor from the school was trained to make his or her own personal pizza, Cannon said.

Wayne mayor celebrates National Health Care Week

Various city officials recently paid tribute to the thousands of nurses, therapists, home care aides, physicians and volunteers who dedicate their lives to meeting the health care needs of all Americans.

National Health Care Week was celebrated last month. Wayne Mayor Ken Warfield joined nurse Susan Sackett and Home Health Aide Peggy Taube on a visit to Wayne resident Flora Franklin's home.

Franklin's daughter takes care of her, but she would not be able to without the assistance of the Henry Ford Health Care staff.

Henry Ford Home Health Care is affiliated with Henry Ford Hospital and provides home care to a broad range of patients from Henry Ford Hospital and other area medical facilities.

Home care is far from limited to the elderly. Many insurances recognize home care as a cost-effective personalized alternative to traditional inpatient care. Henry Ford has well established pediatric and maternity programs, high tech home intravenous therapy and a progressive program to provide comprehensive care to patients with HIV-AIDS related diagnoses.

Home care provides RNs (registered nurses), physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech therapists, social workers, nutritionists and home health aides.

There are times when hospital or nursing home care is necessary, but more and more sophisticated treatments are now being delivered at home.

A study from Aetna Life and Casualty shows significant cost savings when home care was provided for certain health problems there were traditionally treated in hospitals.

The industry remains dedicated to providing the highest quality care and supportive services at home.

Henry Ford Home Care urges employers to work with the planners of their employee benefit packages to implement plans that use home care as the first line of health services and institutionalization as alternative only when effective care cannot be provided in the home.

District expands drug program

The Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program has expanded this year in the Plymouth-Canton school district to include follow-up sessions with sixth graders, a school official said.

D.A.R.E., offered throughout the U.S. and six foreign countries, is a preventive program designed to help students recognize and resist pressures which might influence them to experiment with harmful drugs or alcohol. The program begins in fifth grade with 17 weeks of training. This is the first year in the Plymouth-Canton area the program has involved follow-up sessions at the middle school level.

The D.A.R.E. program is sponsored by the Canton Township Police Department, the Plymouth Police Department, the Plymouth Township Police Department and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Canton officer Leonard Schemanske returns this year for the third time along with Jaime Senkbeil of the Plymouth Township Police Department and Ron Kaminski of the Plymouth Police Department. Joining those three men for the first time is Officer Craig Bauldry of the Canton Police Department.

"We want students to know that D.A.R.E. is still there for them as a support system," Senkbeil said. "It is important to follow-up and reinforce what students learned while in the fifth-grade D.A.R.E. program."

This year the Plymouth-Canton school district has provided a new portable D.A.R.E. office at Hoben Elementary School. The telephone number is 981-2803.

St. Mary students celebrate principal's day

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

St. Mary's students and staff recently honored their principal, Catherine Myszka, in recognition of the National Day of Appreciation for Catholic School Principals.

A school assembly was organized with each class presenting Myszka with pictures and letters which displayed their interpretation of what they thought a principal does on the job.

Eighth grader Bart Hockenberger wrote a letter describing how much he admired the principal.

"She makes time for everyone, and no one is pushed aside," Hockenberger said. "She is someone we learn from, look up to and respect. Her love is felt even when we make trouble and punishment is needed.

"Ms. Myszka is the link that holds the chain together. She is there when you need someone to talk to. She patches us up when we fall and cut our knee, and she cheers us up when we are sad. She tells a joke when a laugh is needed. She gives a hugh when comfort is wanted and help when things go wrong."

Catherine Myszka

Second grader Erin Bierkamp thanked Myszka for all her help.

"Every time you help us I am so glad that you are in my room," Bierkamp said. "Ms. Myszka, I love you. I am so glad because you're a sweet principal."

Fourth grader Kristen Johnson said Myszka always knows how to brighten up a day.

"Through all the years I've been here, you still are number one," Johnson said. "Even if we don't communicate that much through words, I hear a lot about you. I think St. Mary's is glad to have you, especially me. You're a cool principal. Thanks for being a great friend."

Small tokens of appreciation were also presented to Myszka by the St. Mary parish, Parents for Positive Action, St. Mary School teachers, Small Wonders Preschool program, librarians, Hot Lunch program and her secretary.

Myszka has been the principal of St. Mary for eight years.

Board member questions audit

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

One Wayne-Westland school board member is concerned that an additional administrative position proposed by the superintendent is not in the best interest of the school district.

An administrative audit conducted in the Wayne-Westland school district was once again the subject of controversy at a board meeting last week.

School board member Francis "Bud" Winter is concerned that one of the positions recommended is a duplication of an already existing position in the district.

"I have concerns about the Plante-Moran study as I review the job description," Winter said. "In the area of finance, I don't doubt the need.

"I wonder if we're moving in the right direction in the reorganization," Winter said. "I think it needs to be studied."

The position that concerned Winter was the associate superintendent of special projects.

During the past three years, citizens have demanded that school officials reduce the number of administrators in the district. It has been a controversial subject in the past four millage campaigns, three of which were unsuccessful.

Winter has stated on numerous occasions that the district already employs two administrators who fulfill the duties described in the associate superintendent of special projects position. The duties include responsibility for vocational education, adult education and special projects designated by the superintendent.

Winter, the former principal at Wayne Memorial High School, believes those duties are already fulfilled by William D. Ford Vocational Education Center Principal Greg Baracy and Cherry Hill Adult and Continuing Education Center Principal Bill Richardson.

"In school districts that don't have a vocational education center, they have a director who fills that position and the same for adult education," Winter said. "We don't need to pay someone $90,000 a year to do that job, when we already have people doing it."

The longtime educator believes that adding the position will jeopardize the upcoming millage election.

"I'm not going to support this position and turn around and try to justify to people in the community that they should support the millage," Winter said. "The people want us to get leaner and more efficient. They want to see downsizing."

The current 7.75 school millage will expire in June. School officials are expected to stage a millage election before spring.

Winter also disagreed with the superintendent when he claimed that the three new positions he intended to add are not new positions.

Francis Winter

"It is a new position," Winter said. "You have two new positions now, that we didn't have before."

Those positions include the superintendent's executive assistant Gary Dell and the new finance director which hasn't been filled yet.

Winter believes the money could be spent in other areas that would be more beneficial to the students in the district.

"We could have two additional counselors for what we are going to pay the associate superintendent of special projects," Winter said. "When I was campaigning my platform was for programs for the kids, fiscal responsibility and put the dollars in the kindergarten through 12- grade programs."

Resident claims graduation costs are dollars well spent

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

High school graduations are wonderful, joyous and exciting events. They are also expensive. And, while parents are usually paying for announcements, photographs, and cap and gown rentals, school districts also face serious commencement expenses, as evidenced by costs recently revealed by the Wayne-Westland school district.

More than two weeks ago, a citizen who lives in the district questioned the cost of renting Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor where graduation ceremonies have been staged since the late 1970s. The resident informed school board members that the fees were rumored to be as much at $20,000.

Wayne-Westland Chief Fiscal Officer Randy Liepa estimated the cost if graduation to be approximately between $20,000 and $24,000 each year.

Since then Liepa has obtained the actual costs for graduation activities last June.

The total cost of graduation exercises for both high schools last year was $21,618, according to Liepa, including the rental of Crisler Arena.

Graduation costs included:

- Commencement programs, John Glenn High School $2,281, and Wayne Memorial High School $1,948.
- Honors programs, John Glenn High School $804, Wayne Memorial High School $798.
- Invitations and cards, John Glenn High School $156, Wayne Memorial High School $207.
- Diplomas and inserts, John Glenn High School, $4,100, Wayne Memorial High School, $2,767.
- Rental of Crisler Arena, John Glenn High School, $1,980, Wayne Memorial High School $2,598.
- Other: supplies, awards, flowers and rentals, John Glenn High School $1,980, Wayne Memorial High School, $2,298.

The total cost for John Glenn High School graduation was $11,320.

The total cost for John Glenn High School graduation was $10,298.

"As you can see the cost for renting Crisler Arena last year was approximately $4,000," Liepa said.

Until the late 1970s, both high schools staged the commencement exercises at Ford Auditorium in downtown Detroit, according to school board member Francis "Bud" Winter who is the former principal at Wayne Memorial High School.

School officials realized that Ford Auditorium could no longer accommodate the larger number of students graduating each year, so they moved the venue to Crisler Arena.

"Back then, we were lucky if we could give each student two tickets and then they had to decide who they would give them to," Winter said.

Westland resident Roberta Paquette asked board members last Monday night to not give up Crisler Arena.

"I think it's good to save dollars, but graduation is so important," Paquette said. "They've spent 12 years working toward this and it's nice to be in a dry building rather than outside exposed to the elements."

School officials explained that since they signed the contract with officials at Crisler Arena, many other schools, including Plymouth-Canton high schools, have been placed on a waiting list to acquire the dates that Wayne-Westland high schools use the facility.

With all the exciting new breakthroughs in telecommunications, "business as usual" is an outdated concept.

Because today, images and data that once took days or even weeks to reach their destination are now received in seconds. So whether you're part of a start-up business or a major corporation, you can have ready access to the data you need to make critical decisions.

Ameritech is leading the way in applying this technology, helping businesses in our communities thrive in this information age. For example, with Ameritech's LAN-to-LAN interconnectivity, companies are managing inventory and sharing information electronically with real-time savings.

A computer-aided design application helped one of the world's largest auto-makers increase productivity by allowing more than 150 suppliers to transfer design files instantly, with just the push of a button.

A regional health information network, designed by Ameritech, links doctors, hospitals, employers and insurance companies. This not only improves the quality of healthcare but also lowers the cost of delivering it.

And a fast-food industry giant watched productivity go up and commute time go down when Ameritech used ISDN lines to link employees working at home with colleagues at their corporate campus.

Business is indeed changing for the better, and Ameritech is committed to helping companies large and small run more efficiently and grow profitably.

Red Cross seeks donors during holiday season

The American Red Cross needs help. Some areas of the country use more blood than they can collect, and southeastern Michigan is one of them.

To supply the 59 hospitals in the area, 1,000 pints of blood must be collected each day; on an average, less than 850 pints are collected. Locally, we depend on importing blood from the Red Cross in other areas of the state and country to meet our needs. But with the demand increasing and the supply decreasing, the amount could be inadequate.

For other reasons, officials from Garden City Hospital are sponsoring another Red Cross blood drive from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 4.

Medical advances have improved the treatment of serious illness and injury, increasing the need for blood and blood products to support patients through recovery. All types of blood are needed.

> Type O blood, called the universal blood because it can be transfused to people of all blood types, is called for the most.

Type O blood, called the universal blood because it can be transfused to people of all blood types, is called for the most.

In an emergency, a person may need blood to survive, and if their blood type is not known, type O blood is given to them. In addition, newborns who need blood to survive often need type O blood.

Many people consider it a right to receive blood when they have a critical need for it, but don't often consider the responsibility of giving blood to maintain the community supply for others. Giving blood is safe and easy and takes about an hour.

The needle used to draw the donated blood is only used once and is then discarded, guaranteeing the donors safety against contracting the AIDS and other infectious diseases or viruses from the donating process.

Generally, anyone from 17 through 70 years of age who is in good health and weighs a minimum of 110 pounds, may donate.

The December blood drive will be in classrooms 1, 2 and 3 on the lower level of the Medical Office Building, adjacent to Garden City Hospital, located at 6245 Inkster Road, between Ford and Warren roads. No appointment is necessary.

Child seats recalled

Federal transpotation authorities are cautioning owners of child car seats that the seat they own may be on the recall list of various manufacturers.

Officials from Fisher-Price are conducting three recall of child safety seats.

The first involves models 9100 and 9101 seats made between February and November 1989.

These seats must be modified because a plastic part on the buckle shield can break, making the shield difficult to latch. Fisher-Price will provide new shields at no charge.

The same models, produced between May of 1987 and January 1989, were the subject of a November 1990 modification program for the same problem.

Fisher-Price is also recalling model 9101 child seats produced between February 1991 and January 1992. Shoulder belts on these seats can move out of the proper position. The company will provide a new part to prevent the problem. And, model 9104 deluxe bolster seats manufactured between April 24 and Sept. 4, 1992, are being modified because the red button on the seat buckle can become dislodged, preventing the buckle from latching. The company will provide a full refund, a new bolster seat, or repair parts for the assembly.

Fisher-Price has no reports of injury as a result of these problems. The company and officials at the Occupational Health and Safety Administration urge customers to continue to use the seats until new parts arrive.

Two separate toll-free numbers are provided for customers: Owners of safety seat models 9100 and 9101 should call 1-800-332-3457. Owners of bolster seats model 9104 should call 1-800-432-5437.

Century is conducting the recall of Century 3000 STE and Century 5000 STE series--lot numbers 8909 through 9203.

Tests showed that the push-button latch release (red-release button) on these models can jam during a crash, making it difficult to release the harness and shield that restrain the child.

The latch mechanism problem does not affect the crash protection performance of the seat, and consumers are urged to continue use of the seats while waiting for repair kits.

Century has developed a retrofit kit that can easily modify your car seat. This notice only concerns Century 3000 STE and 5000 STE series car seats stamped with lot numbers 8909 through 9203.

The lot number is the last four digits of the model number located on the side of the car seat. If you own a Century 3000 or 5000 STE series car seat within the listed lot numbers a free retrofit kit can be obtained by calling 1-800-231-2755.

Guardian seats manufactured by Takata-Gerico (Gerry) between Jan. 31 and May 1990, are also being recalled. The date of the manufacture is stamped in ink on a label on the side of the seat.

The seats failed to meet a federal safety standard that requires a force or at least nine pounds to depress a push-button that releases the buckle on the belt assembly of the seat. The provision is intended to deter children from releasing the buckle. Owners should call Gerry at 1-800-845-8813 to receive a repair kit.

Opinion

A careful disguise

They don't look much like elves.

We haven't seen one yet wearing green leotards with any type of bells or mystical ornamentation. None spotted to date has been remarkably short and there hasn't been a hooked nose or a pair of shoes with curled-up toes recorded during any sighting. What kind of Santa's helpers are these, anyway?

The very best we know.

We've seen them, and so have you. They stand on street corners and at intersections throughout the area at this time of the year selling newspapers to passing motorists in a manner that died decades ago. But they continue the tradition, and just as they have for so many years, they will donate all the funds collected to needy children in the area so that there will be No child without a Christmas.

These are truly Santa's helpers personified. These men and women who stand in the cold for hours, braving the traffic and the less-than- welcoming glares of motorists who consider themselves too busy to be bothered with spending a few seconds of their precious time or a few dollars of their precious funds to help children at this holiday.

We know that it is disconcerting, these days, to have someone, anyone, approach a driver at an intersection. We know that in the crime- ridden society in which we live, fear of the unknown is omnipresent. We know it is less that desirable to have the privacy of one's vehicle threatened, even for a good cause.

But this is a good cause indeed. If ever a charitable effort deserved the help and cooperation of all those able to contribute, this is it. We speak, of course, of the Goodfellows, out on the streets this month with their annual newspaper sales.

The money these stalwarts collect is used to provide Christmas gifts, toys, coats and clothes for children in the area who might otherwise have no holiday at all. There are many, many worthy causes. And there are even more needy, homeless and destitute among us...but these Goodfellows, men and women, ask for very little and do so very much.

They concentrate on only one thing, bringing a bit of holiday joy into the lives of needy, underprivileged children. They do not pontificate, they do not presume and they do not promise to save the world. They simply want to bring a bit of joy to youngsters. No promises of research to cure disease, no charity fashion shows or fund raisers. They simply print their newspapers each year and then go out on the streets to sell them. There are no administrative costs, no executive salaries and no tax shelters. There is simply a very real desire to help.

And there are, of course, others. The Salvation Army volunteers who stand ringing their bells at shopping mall entrances and near department stores soliciting a small contribution for the needy are another example of the true spirit of altruism and Christian charity.

There are many, many more worthy of your donations, your time and your support. If you, like so many others, cannot donate your time to help, please take their efforts seriously and do whatever, no matter how little, to help them financially. A small hardship to you may mean the difference between no holiday at all and a meager meal and small gift for a child.

Think about that when you see these volunteers on the street or at the malls.

These men and women truly are Santa's helpers and deserve inestimable credit and thanks for the work they do, year after year. If they haven't approached you yet, please give generously when they do. And if they have, we hope you paid as much as you could for one of their newspapers or dropped whatever change you were able into their canister or bucket.

And, if you know one of them personally, a word of encouragement or thanks would be appropriate. They don't get a lot of that.

Except, of course, on Christmas morning, when they think of the children they have helped.

Death of teen prompts mourning

To the editor:

Editors note: The writer is referring to Melissa Thompson who died in an automobile accident Nov. 16.

They buried her today. I can't believe she is dead. It's all like a dream – a very bad one.

She had so much to live for and all is gone. She is gone. I guess God wanted her. She was really beautiful and talented.

A senior at John Glenn High School and a cheerleader. She had so much to live for. This was supposed to be the best year of her life, and all is lost.

Like a rose that died of frostbite. Like a beautiful sunset. Like the first falling leaf and the first snowflake that melted because of the sun.

All that is left is the memory of her. A memory that will last a lifetime. All that she accomplished in her 17 years, and all the friends she made in that period of time. Even though I didn't know her, I am really in mourning for her. She had everything that a teenager could ever want, but one thing she had never wished for happened.

They will never forget the impression she had made on their lives. The talks they had. The fun summers they had spent going to the lake and meeting people who later became her friend like all other ones.

Plea made for aid to children

To the editor:

Regardless of how shocking the news of recent world events has become, when viewed repeatedly over a few months we become desensitized and assume action has been taken in solving these problems.

Just as in the Holocaust during World War II, Cambodia's "killing fields" of the 1970s, the gassing of thousands of Kurds in the 1980s or, most recently, the "ethnic cleansing" taking place in Bosnia and Croatia, the world watches yet offers no help to those victimized. The statistics are staggering: Tens of thousands slaughtered, two million refugees, hundreds of thousands wounded and at least 5,000 children orphaned.

That is why we are appealing to you for help. Through an organization that is working with a Catholic Church in Chicago, you can directly provide badly-needed aid for a child in Croatia who has lost one or both parents and has no other means of support.

A child can be either sponsored for a year or through a one-time donation which is, of course, tax deductible. All money donated goes directly to the child as there are no expenses involved with fund raising.

The name of the organization is Save the Children in Croatia. We can be contacted by calling (313) 828-3193.

Please take a moment to consider these requests. Your support in his humanitarian effort could impact the lives of many children are war victims.

Resident urges prayers for nation

To the editor:

It seems that the American people have an inimitable desire for "change". That was the theme song of the new president's campaign and apparently it paid off.

In that word change people saw a variety of things, among them hope and improvement. Many formulated in their minds a sort of "cure-all" for every ill existing in this country if they replaced George Bush.

Visions of instant employment danced in their heads as they listened to the campaign rhetoric assuring eight million new jobs. School reform rang from the political rafters and promises of tax breaks titillated middle-class taxpayers.

Assurances of substantial decreases in federal spending ($140 billion) assuaged determined citizens along with avowels of cutting 100,000 government positions. Exuberant people get what they ask for and the people have asked for Bill Clinton and change. And what is the true definition of change in the dictionary? Alteration, mutation, permutation, variation, modification, modulation, innovation, metastasis, transition, deviation, turn, shift, diversion, break, reform, revision, revolution, radicalism, revisionism, New Deal, New Frontier, conversion, reversal, progressive, reformer, socialist, communist, veer, tack, swerve, modify, transform, translate, transfigure, transmute, transume, make over, revamp, overturn, upset, take a turn for the better or worse.

Some how the American people transposed all the above meanings of change into hope and improvement although neither of these words is applicable. The next four years will reveal exactly what Clinton had in mind when he had presented a change to the American people. It might not be the same as people imagined.

Regardless of who people voted for, may encourage you to pray for those in authority, especially our new president, that the decision he makes will be the only real change the United States of America needs is to restore the values, morals, virtues and principles it once stood on so firmly.

Pray that this country once again becomes a moral pinnacle of righteousness and that the president will rely on God's guidance and counsel in his term of office.

Pray that President Clinton will determine in his heart that this country will once again become a strong, God-fearing nation. With God all things are possible.

It is written: "Righteousness exalteth a nation;" also, "Blessed is the nation whose God is Lord."

Commission seeks veteran's photos

To the editor:

As part of the ongoing efforts to construct a memorial in Lansing honoring the Michigan men and women who served in Vietnam, the Vietnam Monument Commission of Michigan is looking for photographs, home movies, or slides of men and women who gave their lives for our country in the Vietnam War.

The photos will be considered for use in a tasteful 30-second public service announcement designed to increase awareness of the memorial project and raise money for Michigan's own Vietnam Veterans memorial. All pictures will be returned intact.

The volunteer group of veterans was established in 1988 by an act of the Michigan Legislature with the purpose of erecting a permanent Michigan Vietnam Monument Memorial. It will be constructed on a one- acre parcel of land west of the State Capitol in Lansing an will be funded entirely by private donation.

Further information is available from John Van Osdol at (313) 746-8314 or Jerry Acciaioli at (313) 746-8319. Photographs and film are needed by Nov. 30.

Overturn of ban is applauded

To the editor:

According to news reports, President-elect Bill Clinton is expected to issue an executive order overturning the ban on gays in the military as early as his first day in office. It's the right thing to do.

Keeping the ban doesn't not keep gays out. They are already there, by the tens of thousands, doing a professional job just like anyone else. Eliminating the ban would let them live their lives free of the fear of being fount out and dishonorably discharged.

A June report from the government's General Accounting Office called the ban too costly and said, "Experts believe the policy is unsupported, unfair and counterproductive; has no validity according to current scientific research and opinions; and appear to be based on the same type of prejudice once used to discriminate against blacks and women."

Some argue that we have to keep gays out of the military, and let private employers have the right to fire gays, since some people are prejudiced against them and it could cause work problems. I think that's unfair. Instead of making gays suffer for other people's prejudice, let's try to change the prejudice. And if there continues to be a problem, fire the bigot, not the victim.

Every time gays ask to be treated fairly, someone claims they want "special privileges." Nobody is seeking special rights, only a guarantee of equal rights. Anti-gay discrimination is a reality, penalizing men and women for who they are even though they do not infringe on the freedoms or liberties of others. Gay rights legislation does not exempt gays from laws and obligations that govern other Americans.

Report card issued

Wayne-Westland schools chief to be evaluated by board

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor

Wayne-Westland Superintendent of Schools Larry Thomas will soon be receiving his first report card from members of the board of education.

School board members met in closed session last Tuesday to discuss the criteria they will use to evaluate Thomas who has been working in the district since July 1.

"The board felt it was necessary to begin and formulate a process and an instrument to evaluate the performance of the superintendent," said School Board President Leonard Posey. "This is something that has been done in the past and we thought it was something we have to do."

In the short time he has been with the school district, the superintendent has come under fire several times. The most controversial incident occurred when he invited a former associate to discuss a non-contractual form of evaluation for teachers and other district employees. The audience for the discussion of the "quadrant method" included building principals and other district administrators.

Wayne-Westland Education Association officials referred to Thomas' actions as an attempt to implement "the style and procedures used in West Bloomfield stamped on the Wayne-Westland school district."

Thomas also refused to release a $23,000 administrative audit to the media and the public when the report was presented at a regularly scheduled school board meeting by officials from Plante-Moran.

Posey on three occasion approached the superintendent asking him for copies of the report for the press, but the superintendent still refused.

Thomas claimed his reason for not releasing the report was because board members only received copies of the audit prior to the meeting and he did not want the media to have the report until after the report was accepted by members of the school board.

During the same meeting, board members were asked to accept the report even though they had very little time to review the audit before the meeting.

> The board felt it was necessary to begin and formulate a process and an instrument to evaluate the performance of the superintendent.
>
> - Leonard Posey
> School Board President

After the report was accepted, Posey once again approached Thomas and asked for copies of the audit for the media, but the superintendent still refused.

Wednesday afternoon, Thomas welcomed the evaluation.

"I've been here almost five months and I want to see how the board thinks I'm doing," Thomas said.

Thomas is hopeful board members will give him a good evaluation. "I would hope that they feel I'm doing a good job in communicating with the community," Thomas said.

Citizens have been invited to meet with the superintendent on several occasions. He has implemented the Dessert with the Superintendent meeting and the Town Meeting where school officials, residents, business leaders and other people involved in the community develop goals and share ideas to help plan the future of the school district.

Board member Richard LeBlanc was also expecting the evaluation.

"Actually it was surprising to some extent," LeBlanc said. "I kind of wondered when it would happen.

"What I had hoped for is it would be a period of, where have we been, where we expect to be and what is in bet ween?" LeBlanc said.

Any information that refers to employees of the district is usually classified as confidential. LeBlanc stated he wouldn't be surprised if Thomas chose to share the results of the report with the public.

"I can imagine that at some point, he may choose to share either a portion or all of the evaluation with the public," LeBlanc said.

Larry Thomas

Thomas indicated that he has considered sharing the results with the public, but at this time he is not ready to make that determination.

Secretary of State office hours posted

All Secretary of State offices will be closed for the Christmas and New Years holidays.

To observe Christmas, the branch offices will be closed Dec. 24 and Dec. 25. They will open again at 9 a.m. Dec. 28.

Branch offices will also be closed New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

The offices will be open again Jan. 4.

Secretary of State Frank Austin urged motorists whose driver's licenses or license plates expire during the four-day holiday weekends to renew early. As a customer convenience measure, 165 Secretary of State branch offices provide evening hours on Wednesday, opening at 11 a.m. and closing at 7 p.m.

Austin also reminded motorists to buckle-up, even in air bag-equipped vehicles, obey posted speed limits, and avoid alcohol and other drugs while driving during the holiday season. Youths 16-years-old and younger must be buckled up no matter where they are seated in the vehicle.

Plays, musical events mark holiday season

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Traditional plays and concerts as well as new events help to celebrate the holiday season for young and old.

Entertainment abounds in the area, and those interested in observing the season with music, plays and other entertainment events may select from the following local events:

• Babes in Toyland will be staged at Henry Ford Museum Theatre from Dec. 5 through Jan. 2.

• The Nutcracker, presented by the Taylor Ballet America with the Allen Park Symphony Orchestra at 3 p.m. Dec. 5 and 3 and 7 p.m. Dec. 6 by the Huron Civic Theatre.

• Ypsilanti Area Dancers present its 24th Annual Christmas Ballet at 2 p.m. Dec. 5 and 2 and 4 p.m. Dec. 6 at the Ypsilanti High School Auditorium.

• Celebration of Christmas lighting display at Van Buren Park, Dec. 7 through holidays daily at dusk.

• The Best Christmas Pageant Ever will be presented by Eastern Michigan University Theatre at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 and 12 and 2:30 p.m. matinees on Dec. 12 and 13 at the Quirk Theatre.

United Way is alive and well in Canton Tonwship

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Myron Liner, vice president of agency relations for the United Way of Southeastern Michigan, thinks Canton is a healthy township, but warns "no community is without its problems."

"Social problems exist in any geographic area," Liner said during comments at the Nov. 18 Canton Economic Club luncheon. "The problem is that many communities don't often know they have a problem. The real test is meeting the challenge."

A 30-year veteran of the human services agency, Liner focused most of his comments on Canton and some of attractions he noticed during a driving tour of the area.

According to Liner, Canton has grown some 17 percent over the last 10 years. The population is mostly white, but Liner mentioned that the 36-square-mile township is home to many blacks and Asian residents.

"You also have a good measure of Hawaiian and Samoan residents, too," he said.

Unusually, Liner added, Canton is largely under 17 years old, with just 4.8 percent of the residents over age 65.

"But averages can conceal as much as they reveal," Liner warned. "Clearly there is a substantial population (in Canton) in need. You experience both extremes of the income spectrum."

Canton, Liner said, reminds him of Farmington Hills 20 years ago.

"You have upscale home, trailer parks, industrial and lots of open space," he said. "This is really a fascinating area."

Liner also touched on money problems facing the United Way.

"The truth is the (fund raising) campaign did not do well this year," Liner said. "We're running at about $6 million less then last year."

United Way, in fact, has extended the fund-raising effort for the first time. On Nov. 5, the charity announced it will stretch the effort by an unprecedented three weeks in an attempt to reach the $63.6 million target.

"There are several things at play here," said Liner. "The economy is bad and companies are downsizing. The national United Way controversy (pay-and-perks scandal) hasn't helped. In my opinion, United Way is one the most credible organizations and when we were pinpricked (by controversy) the balloon exploded. The controversy only enhanced our economic problems."

Getting the charity association back on track, Liner said, will require hard work.

"That means re-ordering our priorities and becoming more personally involved," he said, "a door-to-door commitment. The real question will be how to use our limited resources and bring about lasting change. We will no longer be able to accept charity services as a way of life."

Vehicle testing conducted

Some 45,000 Michigan motorists had their vehicles checked last month on Michigan roads for carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions. Testing was done by remote-sensing devices at roadside locations in southeastern Michigan during a joint study conducted by the Big Three auto makers, the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) and the State of Michigan.

"This study is an excellent example of a new spirit of cooperation that is developing between private industry and our state and federal governments," said Wayne France, chairman of the U.S. Council for Automotive Research (USCAR) Environmental Research Consortium (ERC) and head of General Motors Environmental Science Department. "We hope it brings us closer to our long-term goal of removing the automobile from the nation's pollution equation."

USCAR, based in Dearborn, is a organization formed last summer bringing GM, Ford and Chrysler under an umbrella that will recommend, monitor and promote precompetitive research, like the Michigan emission testing, among the major auto makers in the country.

The Michigan study is the first major joint research project undertaken by USCAR and the government.

France said he expects a final report on the study by March 1993. Researchers envision the study to help the auto makers and participating agencies more specifically identify the real-world source of vehicle emissions and evaluate the effectiveness of late-model emission control systems. In addition, the more extensive testing of late-model high-emitting vehicles will help researchers evaluate performance and the effectiveness of routine vehicle maintenance schedules.

USCAR Auto/Oil Air Quality Improvement Research consortium, which includes representatives from the petroleum industry, also will share in the test results and contribute funding for the project.

Auto/Oil and the ERC are two of nine joint research initiatives organized under the banner of USCAR. Formed in March 1991, the ERC mission is to advance the understanding of both the stationary and vehicular emissions as a major step toward improving the environment.

The Auto/Oil consortium was established in 1989 to develop data on potential improvements in vehicle emissions and air quality--primarily ozone--from reformulated gasoline, various alternative fuels and developments in automotive technology.

Double dip

Ice cream king and basketball czar create winning product

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream.

Most everyone enjoys selecting their favorite flavor at the ice cream counter. It's not just a vanilla and chocolate dilemma anymore. Today there are more than 300 flavors of ice cream, and then there's yogurt.

Ice cream has become a passion for children and adults of all ages, and no one knows that better than Phillip J. Roselli, president of Stroh's Ice Cream Co. and Detroit Piston Isiah Thomas.

Recently the two teamed up to create and market a line of unique ice cream flavors "Isiah's Favorite Flavors" with names like Champion Chilli Caramel Vanilla and Rim Rattlin' Blue Moon Twist.

Roselli said he and Thomas have been friends for a few years and together they came up with the idea. This wasn't the first time, however, that Roselli and Thomas worked together.

"I met Isiah years ago, and we played golf together in a muscular dystrophy Bill Laimbeer tournament, and Isiah was my partner," Roselli said. "I was at Coca Cola in those days. Stuart Giller was the owner of Coca Cola bottling plant at that time.

"I recommended to Stu that Isiah would be a really top figure to be associated with throughout this entire market."

In 1990 Roselli and Giller purchased the Stroh's company.

"I came here to run the ice cream division for Stroh's," Roselli said. "I lost track at that time what Isiah was doing. About a year ago, we were talking to the Morley Candy Co. about doing something together with them."

At that time Morley officials introduced the Isiah candy bar.

"I contacted Isiah's agent, and his agent mentioned Isiah was thinking about doing something with ice cream," Roselli said. "We talked with Isiah about the idea and ended up signing a contract with him."

Selecting flavors isn't an easy task. It takes quite a bit of taste testing, according to Roselli.

"I had a bunch of flavors in mind for the new Isiah ice cream line, but when he came down he said, 'those are nice, but I have a few flavors of my own.'" Roselli said.

"We put together this Tropical Twist, and it's my favorite," Roselli said.

"The packaging is kind of our creation here," Roselli said. "If you see it in the stores, and it is in the stores right now, it jumps off the shelves."

Red, white and blue are the prominent colors of the quart and pint ice cream selections. Thomas also has his smiling face on each container with his hand holding a basketball.

Ice cream has become a very sophisticated business throughout the years, according to Roselli. When prohibition came to Michigan May 1, 1918, the production of beer had to cease.

In order to remain active, it was necessary for the Stroh's Co. to seek other products to manufacture.

Having an abundance of refrigeration equipment, ice cream was selected as one of the products along with ginger ale, ice and malt extract.

The first Stroh's ice cream was delivered June 1, 1919.

"The ice cream business has probably changed more in this immediate area than anywhere in the country because of us," Roselli said. "I've been doing food marketing nearly all my life.

"When I first came here, I came from Coca Cola. The concept is you almost can't put enough Coca Cola in a home. I got used to a business where you can't sell them too much."

When Roselli arrived at Stroh's, he began researching

Basketball king selects favorite flavors

Isiah Thomas is scoring big with an all-new lineup this year. But not on the basketball court.

Isiah's Favorite Flavors ice cream, developed and marketed by the Stroh Ice Cream Co., has hit stores in southeastern Michigan and Ohio. Approval of the eight-flavor line, according to Thomas, has been as gratifying as a double-overtime win over the Bulls.

"Everyone I've talked to seems to like it," Thomas said during a recent telephone conversation. "The really big hit has been the raspberry (Double Dare Twist).

"What can I say," Thomas added with his infectious trademark laugh, "everyone loves ice cream. I know I always have."

This is the second food product with which Thomas has associated his famous name. He teamed up with the Mt. Clemens based Morley Candy Co. last year to develop the Isiah Bar. Noting the success of the peanut and caramel chocolate bar, Thomas said he was approached by Stroh representatives over the summer to create new flavor combinations of Stroh ice cream.

"I wanted something totally different," Thomas said. "They put me in a kitchen with all the flavors and I was like a kid again. I'm glad I work out everyday 'cause I sure could have put on the weight."

What Thomas and Stroh's ended up with were eight, Kosher-approved flavors including: Chocolate Chill and Chips; Honey Vanilla Twist; Double Clutch Vanilla/Chocolate Twist, and Twist and Shout Tropical Twist. Also available in collectible, plastic pint containers are: Champion Chill Caramel Vanilla; Rim Rattlin' Blue Moon Twist; Double Dare Raspberry Twist and Orange Vanilla Twist.

Isiah's Favorite Flavors are available is grocery stores and drug store chains, plus some area restaurants in Michigan and Ohio.

Does the Pistons all-time leading scorer, 11-time All Star and two- time world champion guard have other munchie ideas tucked away in the back of his locker?

"Maybe popcorn," he said.

He laughed that laugh and thought for a moment.

"I'd love to have a nice cheese popcorn, or even better, a hot- buttered popcorn with my name on it. I love popcorn."

Oh Isiah!

"I found a little piece of research that turned out to be true that 95 percent of people who buy half gallons buy them one at a time," Roselli said. "At that time in this town our product was $3.99 for retail (half gallon) and the sale was $2.99 which it is now.

"So I thought this is silly. Why don't we sell them two at a time. So we hit on this idea of selling it two for $5."

As a result of that one concept, the market for ice cream has grown dramatically, according to Roselli.

"Now you can go to any major market in this country, and you will find ice cream being featured two for $5," Roselli said. "It's a magical price point."

What's in store for Stroh's in the near future?

"We will be required to put nutritional information on all our packaging, and we're for that," Roselli said. "We will not put a product through here that isn't of the highest quality.

"One of the future goals for Stroh's would be to break out of Michigan into other markets. We would have massaged Michigan pretty well in a couple of years. The highest form of the marketing art is to take a brand that no one ever heard of and introduce it into the market."

In 1978 Roselli joined Stroh's as the vice president of sales/marketing for the Coca Cola bottling subsidiary. He remained there until 1987 when he moved to the Stroh's ice cream division as vice president and general manager.

Active in various foods industry organizations, Roselli has been president of the Food Industry Council of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and a member of the chamber's board of directors.

Roselli said he has enjoyed making Stroh's ice cream the favorite of kids of all ages.

"If I were starting over, going back in the corporate life, I would always want to be the marketing guy," Roselli said. "It's where all the fun is."

Travel industry goes overseas

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

The Michigan travel industry is sending its biggest delegation ever to the World Travel Market--the United Kingdom's largest and most significant travel trade show--this week, Michigan Travel Bureau Director Thomas Altemus said last week.

"And although we are in London as part of the Council of Great Lakes Governors delegation--one of eight American states and a Canadian province--we feel that Michigan, literally at the focal point of the Great Lakes, has the most to gain from the growing world awareness of this American destination," Altemus said.

Altemus is accompanied by Michigan Travel Commissioner R. Daniel Musser, president of the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island; Susan Stoney, executive vice president of the Ann Arbor Convention and Visitors Bureau; Felicia Fairchild, executive director of the Saugatuck/Douglas Convention and Visitors Bureau and Todd Callewaert, president of the Mackinac Island Chamber of Commerce. The Metro Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau also is a major presence at the market.

The World Travel Market, running through tomorrow, attracts 500 American exhibitors and more than 45,000 British travel agents, operators and wholesalers.

The U.S. Travel and Tourism Administration ranks Michigan sixth among the states in international visitors, with more than 2 million in 1991, The U.K. sent the third largest amount of travelers--after Canada and Japan--with some 27,000 visitors.

Purchases aid needy children

Disadvantaged children will benefit this holiday season by a joint effort from American Express Gift Cheques, local financial institutions and American Automobile Association (AAA) outlets in Canton Township.

For every purchase of American Express Gift Cheques at participating locations from now through Dec. 31, American Express will donate $1 to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America and its affiliated agencies, or up to a total of $100,000.

Canton residents can participate in the "Give the Gift That Makes a Difference" program by purchasing gift cheques at American Express Travel Services Offices, or Standard Federal Bank and Old Kent Bank branches.

Hamzeh Makki, assistant branch manager of Standard Federal in Canton, said his organization, the state's largest home mortgage lender, is "very excited" about the American Express drive.

"Any funds that go toward helping the needy is very nice," Makki said Friday. "Standard Federal likes to stay active in all sorts of areas that benefit people."

During the promotion, customers of participating institutions also will have the opportunity to enter the "Give the Gift That Makes a Difference" Sweepstakes, which will make them eligible to win thousands of dollars in American Express Gift Cheque prizes, including a grand prize of $10,000 in gift cheques.

Gift cheque donations will be used to support the efforts of Big Brothers/Big Sisters to expand current programs and recruit volunteers to help tens of thousands of children throughout the country.

For every purchase of American Express Gift Cheques at participating locations from now through Dec. 31, American Express will donate $1 to Big Brother/Big Sisters of America and its affiliated agencies, or up to a total of $100,000.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America, a youth development organization, provides services that generate positive changes in the lives of disadvantaged children, helping them to build brighter futures. The organization is best known for pairing children from single-parent families with caring adult role models who serve as the Big Brothers and Sisters mentors.

The program aims at helping the children to acquire a greater sense of self-worth and to strive to reach their fullest potential.

1978 murder case opened

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Information concerning the re-opening of a dormant 14-year-old Romulus murder case will remain a mystery until at least Dec. 15, the date a Virginia court has set for a extradition hearing for a former Romulus man charged with a woman's shooting death.

The defendant, Daniel Ray Dowling, now 44, was arrested on Nov. 10 and charged with a Michigan warrant with shooting to death his former live-in girl friend, Joanne Lincoln.

Lincoln, 23, reportedly was shot several times in the apartment she shared with Dowling on Aug. 28, 1978, police said.

She reportedly was taken to the old Wayne County General Hospital and then transported to the University of Michigan Hospital, where she died two days later.

The murder probe was handled by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, since Romulus had no criminal investigators at the time.

Dowling was questioned in 1978 in connection with the shooting, sheriff's department records reveal, but claimed the fatal shots came from outside the apartment at Middlebelt and Ecorse Roads. The apartment house has since been razed.

"The defendant, Daniel Ray Dowling, now 44, was arrested on Nov. 10 and charged with a Michigan warrant with shooting to death his former live-in girl friend, Joanne Lincoln."

While the case has remained dormant for several years, Lt. Dan Mefford of the Sheriff's Department said new evidence came to light in recent weeks that lead to the filing of the warrant for Dowling's arrest.

The warrant currently charges Dowling with an "open murder charge" as well as a felony firearm violation, Mefford said. The murder charge will be redefined once Dowling arrives on Michigan soil, he revealed.

Dowling currently is married and owns an auto related business in Front Royal, Va. His wife also owns and operates a day care center. Dowling reportedly used both businesses as the basis for his criminal bond of $100,000.

Dowling, a Detroit native, reportedly moved to Brownstown, Va. early in the 1980s.

According to official sources, Dowling is trying to work an agreement with the Virginia court officials to travel the 498 miles to Romulus on his own, rather than to be escorted here in handcuffs by law enforcement officials.

Supposedly that agreement will be accepted or rejected on Dec. 15 by Virginia authorities.

When Dowling is arraigned in 34th District Court, or at a subsequent court session, Wayne County authorities say they will reveal the "new evidence."

Stop nosing around

Lingering nasal congestion could be symptom of illness

If a box of tissues is your best friend, or you spend your days wishing someone would pull the plug on your nose, experts say you need to stop ignoring your symptoms and start nosing around for relief.

"Once your nasal and sinus membranes are inflamed for any reason, they are more vulnerable to bacterial infections," said Dr. Richard N. Podell, internist and allergy and sinusitis expert from New Jersey.

According to Podell, the longer a you wait to relieve symptoms, the more susceptible you are to feeling worse.

"Untreated nasal congestion and sinus problems can cause serious complications such as chronic sinusitis and bronchitis," he said. "If nasal congestion is left untreated and/or worsens instead of clearing after three to five days, a bacterial infection may be present."

Sinusitis is one of the most common health problems today, according to Podell. It is characterized by an inflammation of the sinuses, and painful swelling to the eight hollow, air-filled cavities located above, below and between the eyes. It usually develops when the tiny opening that link the sinuses to the inside of the nose are blocked by congestion. A sore throat and bad breath are other symptoms associated with sinus problems. Severe sinus pain or sinus congestion accompanied by yellow or green mucus, a migraine-like headache, chronic throat-clearing or bronchitis could mean you have acute bacterial sinusitis, an infection that needs to be treated by a physician.

Relieving your nasal and sinus congestion is one of the first steps to preventing a more serious condition.

"Over-the-counter decongestants are highly effective in treating nasal congestion," said Podell. "They provide temporary relief and help the healing process by draining the nose and sinuses. Antihistamines relieve nasal itchiness and inflammation by blocking the action of histamine, one of the body's natural inflammatory chemicals."

According to a 1992 survey conducted by the Nonprescription Drug Manufacturers Association, more than half of all consumers believe the availability of prescription-to-over-the-counter switch products has made it possible to save the time and expense of going to a doctor. when asked their preference between two products, one formerly prescription and one not, respondents chose the one that used to be prescription by more than a two to one margin.

"If nasal congestion is left untreated and/or worsens instead of clearing after three to five days, a bacterial infection may be present."

- Dr. Richard N. Podell

The newest arrivals to the wide selection of drugstore remedies are Tavist-D and Tavis-1, which recently received approval to be sold as non-prescription aids. Both continue the first new ingredient in the nasal congestion/allergy/sinus category, clemastine fumarate, a naturally long-lasting ingredient that acts immediately to relieve sneezing, runny nose and itchy, watery eyes.

"Clemastine fumerate is one of the most powerful and longest-lasting antihistamines found in the other-the-counter market today," said Podell

In 1989, a major study revealed that more than 40 million Americans have never been fully satisfied with other-the-counter medications in the cough/cold/allergy/sinus category. Research has shown that Tavist, however, has more than a 90-percent satisfaction rate among users.

Regardless of the medication chosen to treat nasal and sinus congestion, experts are quick to remind users that all medication should be taken according to directions.

Movie-goers have many choices for holiday film viewing

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Movie-goers have a variety of new films to view during the coming weeks as the release of holiday films hits its peak.

Those who saw Home Alone last year will enjoy the sequel, probably as much as they liked the original film. Those who didn't like it the first time will find that there's nothing new to change their minds on the second time around.

Macaulay Culkin is delightful as 10-year-old Kevin, the midwestern lad who has a penchant for getting lost during the holidays. This time, as his family boards a plane for Florida, Kevin mistakenly boards a plane bound for New York City.

Much of the comedy is provided by the two evil-doers who attempted to rob his house last year. The pair, played by Joe Pesci and Daniel Stern, have escaped from prison and arrived in New York City on a fish-laden truck just when Kevin begins his exploration of the city.

When Kevin discovers that they have planned to rob a toy store and steal the holiday receipts promised to a children's hospital, the resourceful young man take action - again. This time, the action takes place in his uncle's brownstone which is being renovated while the family is vacationing. It's a repeat of the tricks in the first film, with a few new ones added. Of course, the pair of crooks are captured, the stolen money given to the charity and Kevin is reunited with his family - just as we expected.

Along the way, Kevin makes friends with a Central Park bag lady, and throws a curve at the staid staff of the Plaza Hotel, where he has registered with his father's credit card.

Other holiday film treats are:

• Aladdin, an innovative film - with superb animation - tells the fable of the young man and the wonderful genie released from the magic lamp.

• Bodyguard, a film that won't disappoint the fans of Kevin Costner and Whitney Houston, and a great soundtrack. (Rated:R)

• Bram Stoker's Dracula, a rare film that sticks to the plot of the classic literary piece. Lots of symbolism and subtleties for the audience to ponder. (Rated: R)

• School Ties tells the story of an outsider who attempts to find acceptance in an elite New England preparatory school in 1955.

• Jennifer 8, the story of a beautiful young blind woman who may be the only link to a serial killer.

• Leap of Faith is a comedy starring Steve Martin as the Rev. Jonas Nightengale, a touring revivalist minister.

• Consenting Adults tells the tale of philandering which turns into first-degree murder.

• Flirting is the story of a vulnerable adolescent in the mid-1960s, a coming-of-age story.

• A River Runs Through It, directed by Robert Redford, is a adaptation of an autobiographical novella by Norman Maclean.

• Passenger 57, a good-guy, bad-guy film starring Wesley Snipes as an airline security expert who finds himself in a flight with a terrorist.

• Of Mice and Men, a powerful production of the John Steinbeck classic.

• Night and the City stars Robert DeNiro as an ambulance-chasing attorney. DeNiro fans won't be disappointed.

• Under Seige is not liked by the critics, but audiences - particularly Steven Seagal's fans - love the story about Seagall saving nuclear missiles from terrorists aboard the USS Missouri.

• Zebrahead is a love story between an African-American girl and a white Jewish boy, a modern day West Side Story.. The film as shot in Detroit with some local extras. Watch for them on the screen.

• Malcolm X, starring Denzel Washington in the title role, is a powerful and positive film about the black leader.

Ensemble performs Sunday

Jazz musician and composer Morris Lawrence will appear in the 3 p.m. Dec. 6 holiday concerts sponsored by the Belleville Area Music Committee.

The concert, featuring Lawrence and his ensemble, will be staged at the Belleville High School Auditorium.

A music educator and jazz composer-performer, Lawrence is the founder and first president of the Afromusicology Society in Ann Arbor.

For the past 24 years, Lawrence has developed innovative music and dance departments in community colleges.

The ensemble has performed in many Michigan schools and in several cities.

Through contributions and concert ticket sales, the BAMC hopes to collect enough funds to support another series of nine summer concerts in 1993, according to Jenifer Dapsi-Morse.

Easy pickings in 1992-93?

Is this the worst of times for Wayne basketball team?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Are these the worst of times for coach Chuck Henry and his Wayne Memorial basketball team?

It may be.

"We have problems," said Henry, who guided the Zebras to an unblemished 14-0 record and the Wolverine "A" Conference championship a year ago. "They are problems that hopefully we will be able to solve before too long.

"But, right now, if I was to field a team - it wouldn't be much of a team. We have our work cut out for us this year," he said.

Wayne amassed a 19-4 record a year ago and went on to capture a Class A district title before losing to perennial Class A state title contender and defending state champ, Detroit Cooley, in the first round of the regional playoffs.

Off of that team Henry has retained two players - Andrea Graves and Dontez Prewitt. Both are under six-feet.

"We just don't have size on this team," Henry says.

He's right. Seeking varsity status are Antonio Dodd (5-7), Rod Hardison (5-10) and Bruce Calhoun (6-1). Calhoun joins the team after helping the Zebras post an 8-3 record in football. For the record, Prewitt is 5-8 and Graves stands 5-11.

> But right now, if I was to field a team - it wouldn't be much of a team. We have our work cut out for us this year.
>
> Chuck Henry
> coach

But, as usual, there is no "big man" on this year. Although that's not unusual for Wayne Memorial, it does pose a problem for the Zebra coach.

"Again, we're going to have to rely upon our quickness to get the job done. But it would be nice if I could have a couple of 6-5 players in the lineup," Henry says.

Maybe for Christmas?

But the dreaming isn't going to help the Wayne coach who has to face two extremely tough foes for beginners. He will send his troops up against Plymouth-Canton and coach Dave VanWagoner on Tuesday for the 1992-93 season opener. Then, on Dec. 11, the Zebras play their first home game against Redford Catholic Central, a school noted for its football and basketball tradition.

It won't be easy.

And Henry, with 16 years of coaching experience behind him - he also coached at Dearborn Divine Child for five years and two years ago was at Walled Lake Western - knows that this could be the year that Wayne foes have been waiting for.

But, before you mail those sympathy cards to the Wayne coach, remember, that's what they said about the Zebras a year ago.

And you know what happened. Henry turned last year it into his best year.

Wayne diver is 17th in state

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In the wake of winning a gold medal at the final Wolverine "A" Conference diving championships, Wayne Memorial's record-setting Misty Maniez went on to qualify for the regional and state diving competitions.

Maniez won the conference title with a record-setting 376.50 points. The 17-year-old Wayne senior then went on to compete in the Class A regional championships at Brighton where she finished sixth. That sixth place earned her a ticket to the state finals in East Lansing.

"I consider Misty as one of the best - if not the best - diver in the school's history," said Wayne swim coach Randy Ferguson. "She has excellent talent, and she continues to work hard to improve."

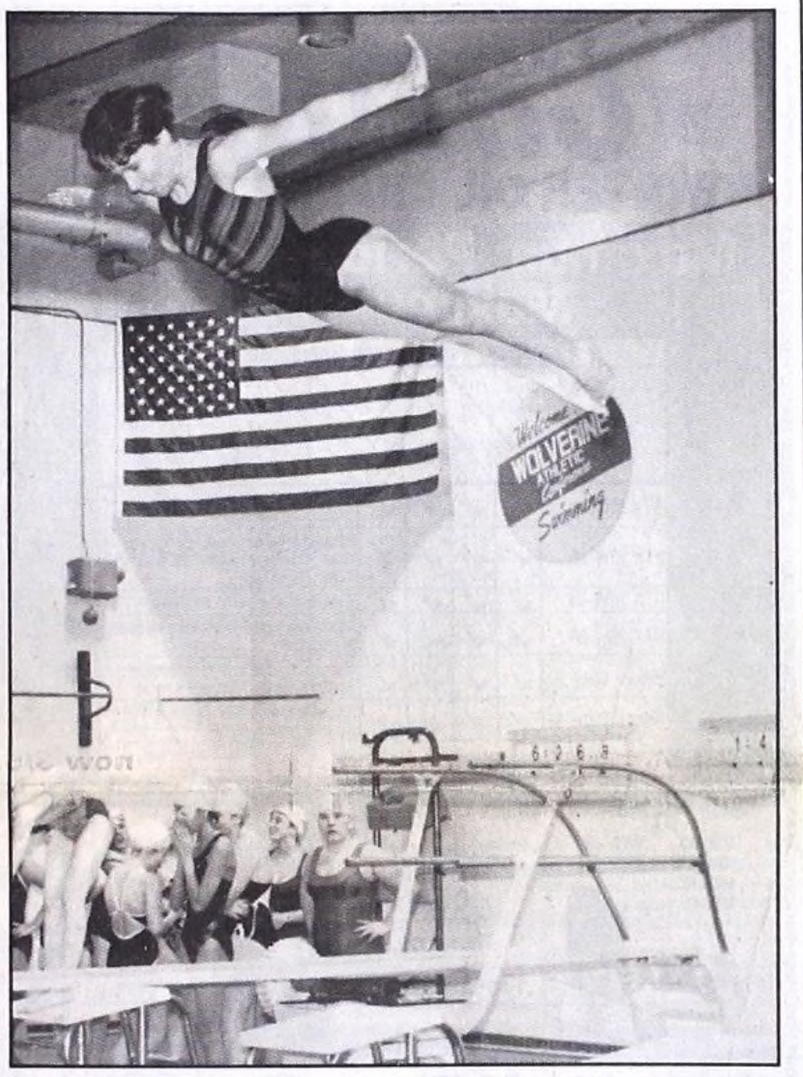
At the state competitions, Misty managed to compiled enough points to finish 17th. It is the best-ever finish of a Wayne diver, according to Ferguson.

At the final conference championships, Wayne piled up 130 points aided by Maniez' first-place and a pair of third-place finishes.

Undefeated Trenton captured the conference team championships with 370 points.

The champs led Monroe (355), Wyandotte (226), Wayne Memorial (130), Belleville (96) and Southgate Anderson (53) in the final standings. Dearborn Fordson and Lincoln Park didn't field women's swimming teams this year.

Subsequently, since the conference will disband after the current school year, the 1992 season is the last for the Wolverine "A". The entire league is scheduled to compete in a Mega Conference next year.



Misty Maniez displays the form (above) that earned her the 1992 Wolverine "A" Conference diving title. The Wayne Memorial senior was the lone area qualifier on the boards for the Class A regional competition, and she managed to make it out of the regionals to compete in the state where she finished 17th in Michigan. ANP photo by Larry DiVizio

Wayne also earned a bronze medal in the 500-yard freestyle competition thanks to foreign exchange student Anna Knutsson.

Knutsson turned in a 5:47 for the 500 for her third place. She was beaten to the wall by Wyandotte's Emily Kreger, who won the gold (5:31) and Andrea Hamm, who was awarded the silver (5:43).

Ferguson's 200-medley relay team also came away with a bronze medal. The Wayne coach selected Melissa Kreklau, Tiffany Morningstar, Jodie Garlough and Knutsson for the event. The foursome responded in a respectable 2:10.2. The Zebras lost out to Trenton (1:57) and Wyandotte, who claimed the silver with a 2:04 effort.

Wayne brought the curtains down on a .500 season, winning five of its 10 dual meets. The Zebras also placed two of its swimmers - Maniez and Knutsson on the All-Conference team.

"I felt we had a good season," Ferguson said. "Almost all of our girls improved their times. I believe that a year from now we should even be better."

Rockets to launch cage season with new coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

There's been a coaching change at Westland John Glenn.

The Rockets will launch the 1992-93 basketball season with Mike Schuette at the controls and, with six returning players, the new coach says he feels confident that there is a solid foundation to build upon.

"Three of those six were starters a year ago," said Schuette, who has coached varsity basketball at Redford Thurston for the past eight years. "I'm looking forward to the challenge."

That challenge could be painless if veteran players John Miller (6-2), Aaron Scheffer (6-1) and Kenny Taylor (6-6) - yes, they do grow them over six-foot in the Wayne-Westland school district - provide the leadership, and the baskets, to make the Rockets a winner.

Miller, recently named to the All-Area Football Team, is a smooth ballhandler who cam pump in the three-points if left unguarded. Taylor, with his 6-6 frame, is the Rockets' center attraction, and must play a key role in gathering the rebounds if this Glenn team is to surface as a title contender.

There are three other notables in the current lineup: seniors Kevin Claypool, a 5-9 guard; Kevin Kolb, a 6-4 forward, and Chris Vanderburgh, a 6-1 forward have the experience and the potential to make this an exciting season.

But it isn't going to be easy for the Westlanders who, of late, have been "also rans" in the Western Lakes.

And with defending champ, Walled Lake Central returning most of its lineup that captured the 1991-1992 championship; with Plymouth-Salem and Plymouth-Canton always ready to knock off any would-be title hopeful, it's most likely that the status quo will remain.

In other words, Schuette may be in for one of those long seasons that are coaches' nightmares.

"This league is loaded with talent," said Schuette, "but I feel we have a very competitive team this year. But we're going to have to work at it."

Schuette also has available a pair of sophomores - Brett Washington (5-11) and 6-9 Guy Rucker and 6-4 junior Tony Goins - ready to step in.

Schuette and the Rockets will get their first test on Tuesday (Dec. 11) when Ypsilanti invade the Glenn gym. The opener could give the new coach a wealth of information on just what this new generation of Rockets need to do to become winners.

A bad start could be disastrous.

Late rally falls short for Little Bill's in Over 30

Unheralded Little Bill's Trophy staged a third-period rally that gave title-hopeful Sportswear Design a scare Sunday night.

Sportswear managed to survive the close call and win a 6-5 decision to improve its record to 7-3-1 in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League.

Sportswear had built a 6-5 lead going into the final period when Little Bill's exploded for three unanswered goals, falling short by one.

Kevin Barbour led the assault on Little Bill's goalie as he fired in two goals and was credited with two assists. Rick Marchand, Jeff Wozniak, Gary Shiemke and Craig Stealth Bomber Albosta each scored for the winners.

Dennis LaPensee picked up three assists.

Steve Wildman had an excellent evening for the losers as he checked in with two goals while Mike Greer, James Creekmore and Rob Harrington added single tallies. Teammates Jon Suvada, Mike Godvin, Ron Clements and Mike Horvath each has assists for Little Bill's, whose record dipped to 4-7 on the year.

In other hockey action, Paddy Pub took a page out of the Detroit Red Wings recent play and exploded for a phenomenal 12 goals against Top of The Lamp. They turned out the Lamplighters 12-3.

Bob Johnson had a hat trick and added three assists to lead the winners to their seventh victory in 11 starts. Tom Weiland, Dale Robert and Bill Bower skated off the ice with a pair of goals apiece.

Jerry Moses, Jim Richardson and Tim Bachler added single goals.

Tom James, Mike Bricker, Jim McMullen and Greg Bonkowski had assists. Eric Zeestraten, Rick Hunt, and Rod Mackenzie scored for the Top of The Lamp. Ray Matthews, Chuck Pankow, Walt Fischoff and Gary Reigel carded assists for the evening.

Paddy's will carry an impressive 7-4 record into Sunday's 2:15 contest with Little Bill's at the Westland Ice Arena.

Harlow Tire and Jake's Again settled for a 1-1 tie in their latest confrontation. The hard-checking, well-played game was deadlocked after two frames then Jake's came up with the knot-cutter in Tom DiLaura who slipped in the puck amidst a scramble of players.

Harlow Tire answered the challenge later in the period thanks to Bob Jones goal. Ron Jacobs and Larry Holt each had assists.

Undefeated Wayne Heating & Cooling managed to keep its untarnished record with a third-period rally that tied Howell Tool & Gage.

Howell Tool drew first-blood, jumping to a 2-1 lead. They held on to their advantage until 5:31 remaining in the game. Then, Ken Bridges came through with the equalizer, and neither team could break the deadlock in the final minutes.

Dave Hunt notched both goals for Howell, whose record is 3-5-3 on the year.

Robichaud gridder is All-state

A honor coveted by almost every high school athlete was bestowed last week upon Robichaud High senior Alex White.

White, a 6-11, 360-pound two-way performer on the line for the Bulldogs, was selected to the 1992 All-State Football Team.

"It is an honor that Alex deserves and earned," stressed Robichaud coach Bob Yauck. "This is a player who will be competing for a Division I team next season."

Alex White

White helped Robichaud post an enviable 7-1 won-lost record. The Bulldogs were nosed out of the Class B state playoffs, losing a berth on the last day of the season.

Ex-Glenn gridder stars for Chippewas

Former Westland John Glenn football star Chris Scheffer continues to shine for the Chippewas at Central Michigan University.

Scheffer, a 6-0, 270-pound nose guard, has received a lot of playing time during the past three years for Central, which has tainted Michigan State's grid image for the past two years.

Scheffer, who is a senior majoring in sociology, plans to pursue a career in the criminal justice field after he completes an internship this summer.

Belleville golfer cards hole-in-one

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With one stroke, a Belleville golfer accomplished what many golfers only dream of...scoring a hole-in-one.

Diana Patricia Cooper accomplished that feat recently, scoring a hole-in-one at the Thorne Hills Golf Club course in Carlton.

She also qualified for an international sweepstakes that, if she is declared the winner, will earn her a trip to Scotland.

Cooper aced the 90-yard No. 3 hole and that ace also is her ticket for the Drambuie Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes.

Cooper and Daniel Thorne, the golf professional who validated the sweepstakes entry are also both eligible to win a grand prize, a one- week trip to Scotland, a VIP tour of Drambuie Liqueur Co. and $1,000 in cash.

The sweepstakes will run from Jan. 1, 1992 until Dec. 31 of this year.

All entrants will receive a customized Hole-in-One bag tag.

Hockey

Wayne Robert accounted for the second Wayne Heating & Cooling goal. Drew Hurley, Dan Robert and Gerry Kmet picked up assists.

In another duel that ended in a draw, Garden City Association and Alternative Funeral Services each scored five goals. Ben Halpin tallied twice for Alternative Funeral Services while teammates Jerry Robertson, Jim McMaster and Ken Knick each counted a goal.

Mickey McGraw chalked up two assists. Phil Neal and Al Pulk each had assists on goals.

GC got an exceptional performance out of Norm Beasley who turned in with a hat trick, including the goal that tied the game at the 3:15 mark of the third period.

Jim Drewry and Doug Morrison also scored. Mike Villemure, Larry Fix, Otto Mason, Mark Santoni and Paul Brown had assists.

Independent Floor Covering came up on the short end of a 7-2 decision with N/C Servo as Ed Harmon, Tim Dettloff and Dave Frankling each scored a pair of goals for the winners. Gary Barbaza accounted for the seventh goal.

Tim Souter, Gary Von Koss, Roger Wodgenske and Dave Zielinski all had assists.

The victory moved N/C Servo into a tie for first place. They're 8-3 on the season.

Jerry Burzuk and Dave Zajac scored for Independent, which is 5-5-1 on the season.

Winless Daly's Drive-In scored the first goal, however, P.C. Outlet replied with four unanswered tallies to claim a 4-1 victory over their rivals.

P.C. Outlet improved its record to 5-5-1 on the season.

The teams will be back on the ice Sunday night with the Top of the Lamp clashing with Sportswear at 1 p.m. in the Westland Arena. Then, at 2:15 Paddy's takes on Little Bill's, while Daly's plays Wayne Heating & Cooling at 3:30 p.m.

In other games, N/C Servo and A.F.S. play the 4:45 p.m. game, and at 6 p.m. Independent Flooring skates Harlow Tire. Jake's and Garden City Association will take to the ice at 7:15 p.m. and in the nightcap, P.C. Outlet and Howell's have an 8:30 p.m. appointment.

NOVENA

Holy ST. Jude, apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ. Faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Mary's and Gloria's. Publication must be promised.St. Jude pray for us and invoke your aid. AMEN! This Novena has never been known to fail, and this Novena must be said nine consecutive days. Thank you St. Jude for all your help. GR.

Anthony Robbins Live!

Renaissance Center in Detroit

What if you could discover the tools of elegant persuasion while having the time of your life in one unforgettable day?

On Wednesday, December 16, you'll learn a powerful, scientific method to consistently perform at your peak as a professional, partner and parent.

This seminar will teach you how to overcome complacency and create values, and to change the way they feel about your product or service in just a matter or moments. And perhaps most importantly, you'll learn how and why people make decisions.

Strategic Influence: The Power of Personal Marketing

(Attention: CEOs & Sales Managers)

If you have 10 or more sales professionals, you qualify for a complementary compact skills workshop by a top Anthony Robbins corporate trainer. Can you afford not to know what the top people of influence in your field already know?

"It was the finest one-day session on the sales process that I've ever had the privilege to attend."

Saturn renames 1993 model

The successful Saturn 1992 coupe model has been renamed SC2 for 1993. That change has opened the way for the addition of a new high-value, entry-level SC1.

Both vehicles share identical structural spaceframe design and a 99.2- inch wheelbase, but the SC1 is distinguished on the road by unique fenders and exposed headlamps.

Rustproof, dent-and ding-resistant polymer exterior panels continue to be used on Saturn models in areas prone to damage and corrosion. These include fenders, doors and quarter panels. An Elpo primer also is added to the frame for corrosion resistance.

Under the hood of each models sits the 1.9L four banger. SC1 boasts some 85 horsepower with the SOHC and 107 ft.-lbs. of torque. SC2 cranks out a respectable 124 hp at 4,800 RPM with the DOHC power plant. Average mileage for either vehicle is around 25 city/35 highway. Both cars offer the standard 5-speed manual transmission or the 4-speed electronically controlled automatic.

Suspension is four-wheel independent with power-assisted front disc and rear drum brakes on all Saturn models. Both SC1 and SC2 are available with the four-wheel disc ABS system. The optional speed-sensitive variable effort steering system is also available on both SC1 and SC2.

Suspension is four-wheel independent with power-assisted front disc and rear drum brakes on all Saturn models. Both SC1 and SC2 are available with the four-wheel disc ABS system. The optional speed- sensitive variable effort steering system is also available on both SC1 and SC2.

Inside, new seat fabrics are offered in 1993 and a lighter tan for both standard cloth and leather trim replaces the mid-range tan color. Among the telltale gauges positioned along the lower edge of the instrument cluster are reminder lights for lap and seat belts, warning lights for oil pressure, coolant level and temperature, charging and power module service.

Quality, comfort and safety continue to be the hallmark of Saturn after just three years in the dog-eat-dog auto market.
